Final Exams on Saturday Causes Debate

by Jill Endraske
LindenWorld Writer

Final Examination scheduling for Saturday, Dec. 15 has created a controversy among students and staff.

"Why should we have to give up one of our Saturdays when we don't have Saturday classes to begin with," asks sophomore Nicole Schlueter and freshman Diane Hartke said she feels it's "not fair" and "it's Lindenwood bureaucracy in action."

This decision was made by division deans and faculty with the approval of Dennis Spellman, president, because of the extended week in the semester and the increase in student population, said Arlene Taich, Dean of Academic Administration.

Taich says, "We needed more days for the exam schedule and this is the way we're able to get the number of days we needed."

Classes will be dismissed on Thursday, Dec. 13. "Faculty feels it's important for students to have a study day before exams," explains Taich.

Niki Juncker, associate theater professor, said she doesn't see the reasoning behind it.

Freshman Amy Baumann says, "It's going to cause scheduling problems."

Sophomore Julie Tierney is on a "fixed work schedule. If I have to get off work, I will, but I'll end up paying for it in the long run."

Other students object to the decision because their religions observe the Sabbath on Saturday.

Ann Canale, associate English professor, said she thinks individual teachers will probably have to make alternative plans for students with other commitments on Saturday. When asked her opinion about the situation, Canale answered "I think we can live with it."

Who's Who is Seeking Outstanding Students

by Cynthia M. Foster
LindenWorld Editor

Lindenwood has been asked to nominate a limited number of students to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, an annual directory of outstanding students.

Alan Meyers, Assistant Dean of Student Life will chair a committee which will decide on final nominations to be submitted to Who's Who. The committee will be composed of faculty members, students and staff.

Meyers has invited all Lindenwood students, faculty and staff to contribute suggestions as nominees. Nominees should exemplify high standards of scholastic ability, participation and leadership in academic and extracurricular activities, citizenship and service to the college and potential for future achievement.

Nominations must be submitted with brief accounts of supporting reasons why they were made and they must be signed. According to Meyers, self-nominations are perfectly acceptable. He will be accepting nominations until Friday, November 30, 1990.

Education Division Offers New Opportunities to Future Teachers

Four new certifications in teacher education are being added to the Lindenwood Education Division program.

The new certifications are in Teacher of the Gifted, School Psychological Examiner, Elementary or Secondary School Counseling and Physical Education.

The certification for teachers of the gifted was approved this year by the State Board of Education. Most school districts have programs for gifted students, but now certification is required. Those who have been teaching will only need minor course work to complete their certificates. Others must first have a certificate in another area and then add the courses required for gifted certification.

Lindenwood has offered courses for teachers of the gifted for a dozen years under the leadership of Nancy Polette and Mary Gis-megian. This certification program, now under the direction of Dr. Jane Aucutt, blends a series of courses into a complete program to prepare teachers to organize, teach in, and evaluate programs for gifted students.

The school psychological examiner's certificate requires a valid Missouri teaching certificate plus 24 credits in appropriate courses.

The certificate for counseling also requires a state teaching certificate, along with a Master of Arts (48 credit hours) to complete certification.

Physical education is being offered because of the large number of athletes interested in earning a teaching certificate. Programs for coaching and athletic training are also available.

Students can begin work on these programs in the spring semester.

New Language Club Forms

The Modern Language Department has formed the Lindenwood College Language Club.

The Language Club has met three times this term to elect its officers, set up a schedule of events, to discuss recruiting new members and to celebrate Halloween.

The officers of the Language Club are Heidi Hafer, President, Nancy Schumacker, Vice President, Elizabeth Renaud, Secretary and Kim LaBelle, Treasurer.

Scheduled events are as follows: the showing of a French film with discussion and refreshments after; a fundraising bake sale to assist eligible students with textbook costs and caroling in Spanish and French during the Christmas Walk.

Language and non-language students are encouraged to become members of the Language Club. To do so, one may contact an officer or Anthony Perrone or William Perry, the faculty advisors.

KCLC Membership Drive Exceeds Goal

*by Scott Rimell
LindenWorld Writer*

"KCLC, a sound investment for the 90's, may I take your pledge?"

If you called KCLC radio anytime in the last week of October, you were probably caught off guard when someone answered the phone with these words.

If you continued to listen you might have been told how you could become a part of KCLC and receive your choice of music premiums for participating.

And if you continued to hold the line perhaps today you are one of the 119 new members of KCLC which resulted from the Fall 1990 Membership Drive that took place October 23-31.

Reaching 110% of their goal the KCLC staff brought in $5060 from phone calls pledges and $469 through mail contributions, according to Glen Cerny, General Manager of KCLC.

All proceeds were provided by area businesses and the surrounding community to support the station and keep KCLC's programming on the air.

Some of the businesses that sponsored this Fall's fundraising were: Vess Distributing, Midtown IGA, Mike's Pizza, Paul's Doughnuts, Victoria's, Pizza Hut, Dairy Queen, A&W Restaurant and Migo's.

"It was a long week," Cerny said as he reflected on the 85-100 hours of time spent running the drive, but his countenance revealed a sense of satisfaction despite the work.

"It's very rewarding because the students do most of the on-air pitching (promoting the event over the radio) and answering the phones," Cerny said, "there are few times when we can be on an informal basis with the students but this builds a relationship and camaraderie between those involved at the station.

Twice a year KCLC holds a membership to fund each semester's programming with formats such as jazz, bluegrass, gospel, Christian rock and alternative music. Each is run by students and volunteers.

According to Rich Reighard, the station Operations Manager, approximately 75 students participated in this semester's drive. The management hopes to see just as much participation in the upcoming toy drive in December.

Volleyball Team Gains Recognition

*by Mike McFarland

With this being the first season for the Lady Lions volleyball team, a third place finish in the Show-Me-Collegiate Conference was unimaginable. But, despite the odds, the Lady Lions completed the task and finished third.

First year head coach Steve Stark was named the Show-Me-Collegiate Coach of the Year. This honor was well-deserved for the first year coach in the inaugural season.

Three players were named to the All-Conference volleyball team for the 1990 season. Freshmen Nina Turvold and Lorna Johnson were named 2nd team All-Conference players. Sophomore Deborah Carey was voted 1st team All-Conference.

All-Conference was not the only award Deborah Carey received. Carey was also added to the Academic All-Conference Team. Senior Jackie Zaczek was the other member of the volleyball team named to the Academic All-Conference Team.

The other four teams in the conference included: Columbia College, Missouri Baptist, Hannibal LaGrange and Harris-Stowe.

The Lady Lions will come out roaring next year and try to bring home a first place conference finish after a successful first year.

Women's Soccer Advances to Nationals

Hard work has paid off for the Lady Lions Soccer team this year and will continue to pay off this week.

They have won the Lindenwood College Tournament, the District Tournament and the NAIA Central Region Women's Soccer Tournament.

For the first time this tournament was celebrated at Lindenwood College. Three other teams participated in the tournament played at Hunter Stadium November 9th and 10th. Those teams were Park College (15-2), University of Arkansas at Little Rock (8-11) and Friends University (7-12).

In the first game of the tournament, Park College of Kansas City played the University of Arkansas at Little Rock. Park defeated Little Rock 2-1. Scoring for Park were sophomore forward Karla Champney and junior midfielder Christine McKim. Little Rock's single goal came from junior forward Stacey Johnson.

In the second game, Lindenwood College trounced Friends University 8-0. Scoring for Lindenwood were sophomore back Amy Pryor, sophomore forward Cynthia Hagen, sophomore back Kristin Miller, junior midfielder Jennifer Dykes and freshman forward Krista Niedenbach and senior forward Liz Kissling who netted three.

The Final featured Lindenwood College against Park College. Lindenwood opened the scoring early in the first half with a goal by sophomore forward Cynthia Hagen. Park soon tied the game with 9:30 remaining in the first with a goal by sophomore midfielder Jenni Moore. A scoreless second half put the game into overtime.

After a scoreless 15 minute period, the teams switched sides and squared off again. With 9:26 remaining in the second overtime, sophomore back Amy Pryor headed the ball past the Park goalie on a corner kick from Krista Niedenbach. Lindenwood held on to the one-goal overtime to advance to the National Championship Tournament for the second consecutive year.

The tournament is being held this week in Erskine, South Carolina. The Lady Lions go into the National Tournament with a 15-5-1 record.

Coach Debbie Washburn of Lindenwood was named the District 16 Coach of the Year for the third straight year.

LC Football Finishes 6 and 4

*by Ken Anderson
LindenWorld Writer*

The Lindenwood College Football Lions finished their season on an upbeat in front of their home crowd by defeating Trinity College 16-0.

The damage was done by quarterback Lamar Wilkes who ran for a one-yard touchdown late in the second quarter and threw to Dan Cummings for a 34-yard touchdown in the third.

The other two Lindenwood points came on a safety when strong safety Jim Paddock wrestled Tiffin quarterback Todd Kelly to the ground in the end zone.

Lindenwood finished their season with an overall record of 6-4—not bad for the college's first varsity season.

Coach Dave Schroeder, who was doused with a bucket of water by the team after the game, says his goal for the team is to be nationally ranked next year.

Lindenwood fans will be anxiously waiting to see if that dream is realized.
